Free entrance to the Alpine Botanical Garden Juliana

Free guided garden tours and workshops *

There are occasional guided tours conducted through Juliana. We also organize workshops on making paper flowers, intended especially for children. At these workshops, it is desirable for parents helping their children. The participation in a guided tour or workshop is free of charge, visitors are liable to pay only the entrance fee to the garden. You can find more information on our guided tours and workshops on our web page and our social media sites.

The Soča Trail

The Soča Trail is a nature trail leading visitors along the Soča River from its source towards Bovec. The tour is guided by the Triglav National Park rangers, while tours through Juliana are guided by the employees of the Slovenian Museum of National History. The assembly point is in front of the Chalet at the Soča source. The entrance fee to Juliana is 2 € (payable at garden entrance); for children, the entrance to Juliana is free of charge.

Common Peony (Paeonia officinalis)

In the garden, you can take a walk along Zoisy' path, where you will get some information on the garden and get to know some very special plants.

* We reserve the right to cancel the announced events in the event of extremely bad weather.

Alpine Eryngo (Eryngium alpinum)

Entrance fees:

adults: 3.00 EUR,
family ticket: 6.00 EUR,
primary school pupils, students and pensioners: 2.00 EUR
Free entrance: preschool children, museum card holders, members of Prirodoslovno društvo Slovenije
10 % discount: with a ticket of the Triglav National Park

Which is the shortest path for Zoisy the Dwarf to reach the table and the bench, where he had left his watering can?

Connect the dots.
Do you know what flower is it?
